

PRESS RELEASE

- FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE -

M&S Systems' Debuts New Airvac Red and Platinum Series Central Vacuums

CARLSBAD, CA – 12/1/2005 – M&S Systems will unveil the next generation of AirVac central vacuum systems at the 2006 International Builders' Show, Linear booth #W3877, in January. Both the AirVac Red Series bagless and Platinum Series are designed to offer homeowners more choices and greater satisfaction while increasing builder profits.

The new AirVac Red Series bagless central vacuum system replaces the existing Red Series and offers an extended five-year warranty. The new Platinum AirVac is a disposable bag central vacuum system offering an extended ten-year warranty. It replaces the Gold Series.

Both AirVac systems are designed to meet homeowner needs in all price categories and provide an upgrade solution for existing vacuum customers. With four models each in both the Platinum and Red Series, consumers can choose either bagged or bagless systems for homes ranging from 3,000 to 12,000 square feet.

The AirVac systems' modular, nested components reduce storage space and shipping costs – and simplify handling, installation and service. Both systems use updated AirVac tool kits and accessories so there's no need for replacement kits.

The AirVacs' sleek, new modular design houses a more powerful, yet efficient motor that lowers operating costs and reduces allergy-causing agents as well as noise. To protect you from dirt, dust, dust mites, pet dander and other pollutants, AirVac utilizes HEPA air filtration bags within the power unit. This power unit is generally located away from living areas keeping them pollution free. Both the EPA and the National Lung Association call this a definite health benefit. Bottom access to an ergonomic bucket design makes it easier to remove collected home debris.

For more information on how these M&S Systems' new AirVac Platinum and Red Series can help customers and builders clean up, visit the Linear booth #W3877 at the 2006 International Builders' Show, call M&S Systems' toll free line at 800-421-1587 or e-mail Linear at info@linearcorp.com.

M&S Systems, recently acquired by Linear LLC, is an industry leader in the design and manufacture of built-in, electronic home amenities for over 50 years. M&S is renowned for applying technology, style and value to products that enrich the enjoyment of the home, from central vacuum systems to analog and digital music/communication and home theater surround sound systems.

Contact: Chuck Stevens
760-438-7000
chucks@linearcorp.com
www.linearcorp.com

Linear[®]

(760) 438-7000
USA & Canada (800) 421-1587 & (800) 392-0123
Toll Free FAX (800) 468-1340
www.linearcorp.com